STUDIOPLEX GREEN MARKET
WELL RECEIVED BY OLD FOURTH WARD COMMUNITY
Fresh herbs, kids' art and vintage clothing vendors to be added
Saturday, July 19 at 8 a.m.

ATLANTA – July 15, 2008 – Based on the success of the Studioplex Green Market that began last Saturday, the organizers will add a variety of vendors to the initial group of local growers from Habersham and Rabun counties. Starting July 19 visitors will also be able to find fresh herbs, local kids' art and vintage clothing. This will be in addition to the succulent corn, squash, home grown tomatoes, gigantic sunflowers, delicious baked goods, and coffee from Danneman's Coffee in the Old Fourth Ward (<http://dannemans.com>).

The Studioplex Green market will be held every Saturday through September 27, and is set up across from the main entrance to Studioplex on Irwin Street near the corner of Auburn Avenue (at the water tower triangle) in the Old Fourth Ward.

A portion of the profits from the market will benefit City Church-Eastside (www.citychurcheastside.org), led by Pastor Scott Armstrong, which regularly meets in the community room at Studioplex. In addition, vegetables not sold during market hours will be donated to Open Hand, an Atlanta-based non-profit organization (www.projectopenhand.org).

“Clearly our residents at Studioplex Lofts and neighbors in the Old Fourth Ward enjoyed our first green market last Saturday. It gave them the opportunity to find some great local produce as well as mingle and catch up,” said Dillon Baynes, principal of Studioplex LLC and one of the three partners in the in-town development. “What a relaxing way to start your weekend.”

Many home chefs are always on the lookout for the freshest herbs and they will be delighted to find Bill Clancy with his collection of herbs including fragrant basil and thyme. Old Fourth Ward resident Aida Rentas of the Grass Roots Institute (<http://www.grassrootsinst.net>) will sell art made by children in her program while a local vintage clothing vendor will display unique pieces.
